What would possibly prove to be a double murder was committed this morning by an outraged and jealous husband in one of the tenements bordering on the notorious Cat Alley, opening from 10 Cherry street, a narrow, dingy, four-mueing place which has been the scene of other bloody crimes.

Antonio Benanco, twenty-six years old, a fine looking, well dressed Italian who runs a job tailoring shop at 73 Mulberry street.

One of his victims was his young, pretty but faithless wife, and the other was Gabriel Bertolino, her young and handsome paramour.

Mrs. Benanco was shot three times, once through the heart, and died almost instantly. Bertolino was shot four times and was removed to Chambers street hospital, where his wounds were pronounced fatal, though his life may be prolonged for several days, perhaps weeks.

The only witness to the shooting was Rosa Lombardi, who occupied the two rooms comprising the apartment with the late Benanco. She is a widow, and the late Benanco was her husband's lover.

The story she told to the neighbors before she was put under arrest, and locked up as a witness was full of dramatic incidents.

Culmination of a Romance.
The double shooting, it appears from her story, was the culmination of a romance which had its origin in Italy six years ago. Benanco was a tailor's apprentice in the village of Soriano, the delight of his neighbors, and the favorite of his father. He was a handsome young man, and his father, who was a wealthy man, had given him a good education. He had been in the Province of Salerno, and he was a very successful man.

Said, Before Monday.

When the Fairchild Commission of Inquiry reached their big hall in the Barge Office this morning they found matters ready for them to begin their investigation at once on the Appraiser's Stores.

A large case full of the records, invoices and papers from that department bearing upon the charges which have been made by merchants and importers of this city, had been brought down early in the morning from the Laight street stores, and were in readiness to be overhauled by the Commissioners upon their arrival.

Only three of the members of the Commission were here at 10 o'clock. They were ex-Collector Maguire, Poin-dexter Dunn and Wallace Macfarlane, and as Mr. Maguire announced yesterday, they began their session behind closed doors. Ex-Secretary Fairchild was expected later on, and, as the morning papers would be devoted to the examination of records, the presence of the Chairman was not necessary.

Mr. Morgan said that he did not know how long it would take to go over these papers, but he thought it probable that the witnesses would be examined to-day.

"It is possible," he said, "that we may not be ready to take any testimony until next Monday, in which case, of course, our meetings this week will be devoted to the examination of the nature of the preliminary details of the inquiry."

Mr. Macfarlane repeated his assurance that whenever anything of importance was done the public would be permitted to attend.

The Commission could be seen plainly from the street, and it was evident that the members were busy this morning, for they had a large pile of documents before them, which they seemed to be examining with a great deal of interest. Assistant Secretary C. S. Hamlin, of the Treasury Department, had gone back to Washington with Logan, the Secretary's son, and has left the Commission to go along on his own hook.

A number of new faces were seen in the corridors of the Barge Office this morning. Many of the newcomers were connected with the Appraiser's Stores, or were representatives of merchants interested in the investigation, who expected to have their say in the matter. Many of the newcomers were connected with the Appraiser's Stores, or were representatives of merchants interested in the investigation, who expected to have their say in the matter.

Several anxious inquiries were made of the guardian at the door as to whether the Commission would take up the sugar frauds to-day or not, but that official had no information to impart.

"All the orders I've got," he said, "is to bar out reporters and everyone else who is not connected with the Commission. The Commissioners say they can come in."

That was all the information that could be obtained from the guardian. It was understood that Appraiser Cooper has offered to do all in his power to assist the Commission in their investigation. He has prepared a voluminous statement as to valuations of goods in the Appraiser's Stores, and has shown that the Appraiser's valuations were in most cases correct, and that no discrimination was made in favor of certain houses.

Such was the statement, and the accompanying documents with which the Commissioners were busy themselves this morning.

Ex-Secretary Fairchild arrived at 11 o'clock and immediately joined in the investigation.

A man named Choate, who is said to be connected with the Appraiser's Stores, was called in by the Commission, and it was rumored on the outside that he was under examination.

It was also said that a number of witnesses were called in to-day, but in them to appear to-day had been served this morning.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The Spanish Princess Eulalia, her husband and suite left Washington for New York at precisely 10 A. M. on a special train on the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The Infanta was driven to the station from the Arlington behind the President's four-in-hand, and was escorted by four companies of cavalry.

Crowds lined the whole line of the route and surrounded the depot.

City This Afternoon.

Princess Eulalia, Infanta of Spain, will arrive in Jersey City this afternoon in the neighborhood of 4 o'clock, accompanied by her suite, Commander Davis, U. S. N., and James N. Varum, Chairman of the Committee of One Hundred. She will be met at the train by a special committee consisting of Gen. Horace Porter, Lord P. Morton, Howard Carroll, Garretts N. Bliss, Whitehall Reid and S. V. H. Cruger.

The steamer Gen. Stroom, donated for the occasion, by the Knickerbocker Steamboat Company, will convey the party to Thirty-fourth street, and the passage up the river all vessels met will give three wishes as salute, which will be answered by the Stroom.

Arriving at Thirty-fourth street, the Infanta and party will be taken in carriages to the Hotel Stuyvesant, escorted by a special squad of mounted police, and the party will be taken to the hotel.

As the hostesses of the party, the Princess and her suite will be received by the Mayor and the Committee of One Hundred.

The vexatious question of etiquette has been settled, and the reception will be of a most hospitable character. There will be no handshaking and no bowing, and the Infanta will be escorted by the Mayor and the Committee of One Hundred.

At the conclusion of the reception, the Infanta will be taken to the hotel, where she will be accommodated in a suite of rooms. The Infanta will be accompanied by her suite, and the party will be taken to the hotel.

Extortion by Keepers.

At regular intervals complaints are heard from prisoners in the Raymond Street Jail, Brooklyn, that they are forced to submit to various systems of extortion practiced upon them by keepers and other inmates of the place.

As the hot weather approaches these complaints become more numerous, and some of the acts of imposition are practiced with such boldness and persistence by the keepers that they are regarded by the prisoners as little less than robbery.

The latest complaint of these alleged outrages comes from John Monahan, a journeyman plumber, living at 100 West 10th street, who told the following story to "The Evening World" reporter:

"Last Sunday night I was arrested for intoxication and locked up over night. Sunday morning I was taken before Police Justice Tiche, and was sent to the Raymond Street Jail. I was placed in a small cell in the jail where there was not a breath of air. I could not stand the heat; it was suffocating.

"I asked a keeper if he could not transfer me to a cooler cell, and he replied that it was against the rules. I asked him to let me go, and he replied that I was a trouble maker, and he would not let me go. I was locked up in a small cell, and I was not allowed to go out. I was not allowed to go out, and I was not allowed to go out.

"I was locked up in a small cell, and I was not allowed to go out. I was not allowed to go out, and I was not allowed to go out. I was not allowed to go out, and I was not allowed to go out. I was not allowed to go out, and I was not allowed to go out.

"I was locked up in a small cell, and I was not allowed to go out. I was not allowed to go out, and I was not allowed to go out. I was not allowed to go out, and I was not allowed to go out. I was not allowed to go out, and I was not allowed to go out.

"I was locked up in a small cell, and I was not allowed to go out. I was not allowed to go out, and I was not allowed to go out. I was not allowed to go out, and I was not allowed to go out. I was not allowed to go out, and I was not allowed to go out.
